In late 2013, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) published new requirements for federal award programs entitled Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards (also known as the Super Circular) codified at 2 CFR 200. These changes are a component of a larger federal effort to improve accountability for expenditures of federal money by placing a greater emphasis on performance over compliance. This workshop will cover financial and administrative requirements for CDF subrecipients including new direct and indirect cost principles, audit requirements, allowable and unallowable costs, internal controls, and will provide guidance on implementing these changes.

Who should attend?

Development and/or grant writing staff from nonprofits, and anyone interested in learning about the OMB Federal Award requirements
